

Golden Health Care, Saskatchewan's largest personal care home provider, has added a new member to its homes. The "OBIE"

"Aging in the Right Place" is the hallmark of care that Golden Health Care delivers to its residents. Doing so with comfort, dignity and a lifestyle that adapts to our resident's ongoing needs has always been our mission. As such, GHC has responded to the current pandemic situation by seeking to improve quality of life for residents that are now isolated, lonely and experiencing health concerns as a result.

We have continued to explore all options available to provide our residents with a well rounded activity program and fortunately we have engaged with Eye Click, creators of the new OBIE For Seniors – a smart interactive projector that provides stimulating games specifically designed to enhance the lives of seniors. It's a tool care-providers are finding helpful as they try and keep their residents engaged and support cognitive enhancement. GHC has identified the need and realized that this technology can bring a lot of value to the senior population, which is at high risk now, isolated and has very specific needs.

With the OBIE, games can be played on a table, wall, floor or any flat surface—all of which can be sanitized more easily than traditional board games or puzzles. The interactive gaming platform is designed with seniors physical and cognitive abilities in mind. The OBIE benefits our residents in several ways:

Empowers Moving

An excellent way to improve mobility with active games for our residents.

Social Interactions

Helps reconnect with family, friends and children and creates safe social experiences

Cognitive Activity

Combines cerebral stimulation and entertainment through interactive games.

The virus has changed the way residents live in their home but it also has been a catalyst for positive change. The benefits of having OBIE in each of our homes are many. It's vital to find new ways to keep residents engaged now and into the future. We have to continue to explore both sides, technology as well as non-technology, to provide our residents with a well rounded activity program.

Golden Health Care
Here to care for you

At a very critical time, Golden Health Care will be the first senior care home in Canada to add this advanced technology to benefit the well being of its residents.
