A low-angle photograph of a field of orange and yellow flowers, likely Gaillardia, against a bright, slightly cloudy sky. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is warm, suggesting a late afternoon or early morning setting.

In Loving Memory

Cora Carol Wilms (Rebman)

Our hearts are heavy with grief as we remember the life of Cora Carol Wilms (Rebman), who peacefully departed from this world on July 30th, 2023, at the Cypress Regional Hospital, surrounded by her loving family. Cora, a remarkable and beloved mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, aunt, friend, and neighbor, leaves behind a legacy that will forever be remembered.

Left behind to cherish her memory are her four sons: Lane (Brenda), Laird (Sharon), Darwyn (Ila) and Darren (Lori), her 10 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, as well as numerous nieces, nephews, cousins and in-laws.

Cora was predeceased by her husband, Dale, on November 4th, 2022. He was the love of her life. She was also predeceased by her parents, John and Cecilia Rebman, her parents-in-law, Harm and Anna Wilms, her brothers, Lawrence, John, Ray, Stephen, and her sisters, Lillian, Florence, Ellen and Patricia. Brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law: Glenn and Ruth Wilms, Bill and Evelyn Williamson, Raymond Wilms.

Born on December 9, 1932, in Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, Cora was the second youngest of nine siblings born to John and Cecilia Rebman. Her early life was a testament to resilience, warmth, and determination. She was the smallest of the bunch and she would share the memory of her sleeping in a shoebox by the coal/oil stove to stay warm. She would also tell stories about the endless teasing she shared with her siblings showcasing her tenacity and ability to find comfort and strength. Each of her siblings was adorned with a unique nickname, a testament to the cherished moments they shared, her nickname was "bubbles."

As life unfolded, Cora's path led her to Swift Current, where she met the love of her life, Dale Wilms. They got married on April 20, 1954 in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, which marked the beginning of an extraordinary partnership that would span over 68 years. Their enduring love was a source of inspiration, a testament to the power of devotion, and a shining example of true partnership for their family and friends. Dale would come into the kitchen after farming every single day and give Cora a kiss.

Cora and Dale embarked on a life together on the farm, nurturing their dreams and raising their four sons. Cora's hands were never idle, whether she was tending to her bountiful garden, assisting Dale with the animals, or offering her culinary expertise to the road crew during the construction of the four-lane #1 highway, or hosting the hundreds of people who came from all over the world to see Dale's cows. Cora's kitchen was a place of warmth and laughter, Dale was the storyteller, but Cora's quick wit and one-liners were legendary, bringing joy to all fortunate enough to share her company. Dale would bring people in, and Cora would keep them there.

Her dedication to family extended to her role as a grandmother, where her heart expanded to embrace each new grandchild with love and cuddles. Cora loved babies. She would always be so happy to hear that there was going to be another grandchild coming. When they would come home from the hospital, she was waiting to hold them and give them lots of love.

For as long as we can remember, Cora enjoyed going to auction sales to find antique treasures. Later, she enjoyed the garage sales, buying more and more treasures and then having her own garage sales. The family called her the "Garage Sale Guru". People from all over would come to see "Cora's collectibles," and when the grandkids got homes of their own, they knew where there would be an extra set of dishes waiting for them. She enjoyed the bartering, and she knew the value of her treasures. Along the way she started collecting elephants, people would bring along an elephant when they came for a visit. Her home is still full of elephants.

When Dale and Cora started their "Golden Years" they enjoyed going on many bus tours, visiting casinos in Deadwood, Sky Dancer, Las Vegas and they also went on an Alaskan Cruise. Cora enjoyed the casinos.

Cora's life was characterized by hard work, resilience, and a profound sense of humor. Her collection of elephants symbolize her strength and wisdom, much like the mighty creatures themselves. Her commitment to lifelong learning, combined with her wit and warmth, created an environment of laughter, growth, and love that left an indelible mark on all who had the privilege of knowing her.

In accordance with Cora's wishes, a public funeral will not be held. Instead, her family invites you to remember her by making donations to the Allan Blair Cancer Clinic or the Canadian Cancer Society, organizations close to her heart.

As we bid farewell to Cora, we find solace in the memories we shared, the laughter she brought, and the love she bestowed upon us all. Her legacy of strength, love, and resilience will continue to inspire and guide us in the years to come.

A Time for Everything

Rachael Katharine Elliott (Illinois, USA)

For everything there is a season and a time for every matter under heaven. - Ecclesiastes 3:1 (NRSVUE)

I walked around the cornfields near my home. They were empty, barren, void of any life. The wind was the only sound in the low sloping hills. I could relate to those empty fields. I was between jobs, living with my parents, and waiting for someone, anyone, to respond to my job inquiries. I felt like a failure. What had I done by quitting my teaching job and moving back home after three years abroad? Had I misheard God's guiding voice? Had I done the wrong thing? Like the cornfields not yet planted, I was empty.

As I gazed at the field, I remembered a conversation I had with a farmer years ago. We stood at the edge of an empty field like this one, and I asked if he would be planting soon. "Not yet," he said. "We have to wait for the right time, or nothing will grow." As I stood now alone by the cornfield, I realized that "empty" was just what I needed to be in that moment. I wanted job offers, but maybe, like the field, I wasn't ready. It wasn't time. Maybe if the offers came too soon, nothing would grow in my life.

It's easy to think of a time of waiting as a time that is wasted. But God, like the farmer, knows there is a time for everything. As the empty field waits for the farmer, we can wait for God's timing.

TODAY'S PRAYER

All-knowing God, give us the strength to wait even when the world seems to tell us we shouldn't. Give us your peace when we can't see the next step to take. Amen.
